1st Place Winner: 2007 People's Choice Award Education

The Calfee School Guide is an in-school program that helps middle school students and their guardians navigate the open enrollment process in the San Francisco School District. Each high school in the district has a different academic emphasis and a different enrollment process.

The site was directed mainly at middle school students and was intended to let them explore the idea of making choices. From music to future careers, the viewer is encouraged to think about how choices impact their lives and why the choice of high school is an important first step.
